A YEAR OF MOVING FORWARD

It has been a year since Chief Justice Catherine D. Kimball was inducted as the 24th Chief Justice of the Louisiana Supreme Court. In 2009, Justice Chet Traylor of the Court's Fourth District retired, and Justice Marcus Clark was welcomed to the Court as the Fourth District's new Justice. In the interim, Judge Ben Jones of the 4th Judicial District Court sat as Justice pro tempore, and the Court is indebted to Judge Jones for his excellent service and invaluable contributions during his pro tempore term.

2009 has been a year of moving forward. Last January, during their annual retreat, the Justices of the Louisiana Supreme Court adopted a simple, but profound, vision statement for the Court:

We envision hard working judges, who treat all within their purview with kindness, fairness and respect, and who require that same treatment by their employees and the attorneys who appear before the court; and a judiciary that is recognized by our state and nation as having those qualities. We envision a judiciary that handles its work efficiently and appropriately and cares as deeply about the disposition of a child abuse, a juvenile or a custody case as it does about a high profile civil lawsuit.

This vision is shared not only by the Supreme Court Justices but by Louisiana's dedicated judges at all levels of the state's judiciary. Much time was spent in 2009 to implement measures to make this vision a reality and to move forward.

The Court's first implementation priority is "improved case management" at all levels of the judiciary. To demonstrate the Court's emphasis on this issue, the Court retained consultants with the National Center for State Courts to examine the case management processes of the Louisiana Supreme Court and to offer recommendations on how the public's business could be handled in a more efficient and timely manner. A draft report has been completed with several excellent recommendations, and the Court will study it closely and take appropriate action in the near future. Further, the Court has reviewed its own internal departments with an eye toward improving efficiency and competency. Management Training has been instituted to assist court managers to better handle their supervisory functions and responsibilities and assist staff in achieving their top job performance. The Court has also implemented some insightful suggestions made by its employees to improve internal communications.

This year, the Supreme Court implemented stringent rules requiring financial disclosure by state judges, and the first reporting deadline was May 15th. Canon 6 of the Code of Judicial Conduct governing the receipt of gifts by state judges was also reviewed and strengthened. The Court appreciates the timely compliance with these new rules by state judges.

In trying to make the Court's vision a reality, it is faced with the negative public perception of the judicial branch of government. To address this concern, in 2009, the Court appointed the Supreme Court Ad Hoc Committee to Study Perceptions of the Legal System, which is comprised of high-level representatives from all branches of government, the private sector, the business community, labor interests, and the state's Bar Association. The Committee was formed to consider how to respond to issues raised in reports such as the U.S. Chamber of Commerce's annual ranking of states' litigation systems, the American Tort Reform Association's Judicial Hellholes report, and other reports that deal with state judges and courts. Louisiana typically does not fare well in these reports, but the Committee has discovered that the findings in some of them may not be reliable. That said, members are carefully reviewing these reports and are working to use data contained in them and other sources to develop strategies for improving the perceptions and the operations of the justice system. The Committee has met several times and has offered significant suggestions towards improving the image of Louisiana's legal system. Even though the members come to the table with differing perspectives, they all share a love of our state and our profession, and a commitment to try to improve its image. The work of the Committee will continue in 2010.

On the national stage, there has been an increase in the number of pro se litigants that are using the court system. These are litigants that seek to file suit or pursue relief from a court without the assistance of an attorney. This national trend is also evident in Louisiana. Obviously, as the cost of litigation continues to rise and as the economy weakens, more and more citizens who must utilize the courts are trying to handle legal matters on their own. The Supreme Court, in concert with the Louisiana State Bar Association, has formed a committee to explore methods of assisting those pro se litigants in navigating the legal system. In states such as Louisiana where poverty might play a widespread yet unfortunate role in the lives of its citizens, it is imperative to move in this direction to make courts available and accessible to all of Louisiana's citizens. no matter what their means. The Committee, chaired by Judge Harry Randow of the 9th Judicial District Court, has already met several times and adopted the following goals: to recommend to the Court ways to improve court rules for pro se litigants; increase education and training opportunities for attorneys, judges and court staff; collect data regarding the number of pro se litigants and the types of cases filed by such litigants; and increase the number of standard legal forms and documents available to pro se litigants. The Louisiana State Bar Association is to be commended for its leadership on this issue, especially through the LSBA's Access to Justice Committee.

The Court has also appointed a Supreme Court Committee to Study Post-Conviction Procedures, chaired by Justice Jeannette Theriot Knoll. The purpose of this Committee is to conduct a comprehensive review and study of the laws, processes and procedures relevant to Louisiana post-conviction proceedings in a collaborative method to determine the cause, if any, of delays or practices unfair to the relator or the State, and to make recommendations as to how to bring post-conviction proceedings to a fair and prompt finality of judgment. The Committee members were drawn from a broad range of individuals knowledgeable about the post-conviction process and include representatives of the defense and prosecution bars, the state judiciary, the legislature and the law schools. The Committee will continue its important work in 2010.

On the technology front, the Court continues to regularly "live stream" its oral arguments on its web site, so anyone can watch them from a computer. The Court's web site is also now translatable into 31 different languages. This past year, the Court continued to take steps toward implementing an e-filing system where court filings can be made via e-mail in the near future.

Work continued in 2009 on the Court's ERP, the "Enterprise Resources Planning System," which includes installation of new software and training of employees, and which will revolutionize the way the Court handles its internal business services and human resources record keeping. The ERP is another significant step forward in improving internal operations of the Court, and special thanks are owed to the Court staffers who are devoting countless hours to making the ERP project a success.

During 2009, the Court continued to work closely with the Louisiana State Bar Association and its officers on many issues, including the recent changes to the rules on Lawyer Advertising. The LSBA officers were the first to have lunch with the Justices as part of a new initiative where the Justices regularly invite different groups to lunch at the Court for open discussion on systemic improvements. Recent guests have included the members of the Judiciary Commission, members of the Committee on Bar Admissions, and the judges of the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeal.

This is just a snapshot of the work of the Court in 2009, with the assistance of many members of the state bench and state bar, to move the state judiciary forward. As always, the Court is receptive to suggestions and recommendations as to how we may continue to strive to achieve our vision, so please feel free to contact Chief Justice Kimball with any ideas or suggestions.

Chief Justice Kimball has the distinct pleasure of submitting to the Supreme Court of Louisiana, to the Board of Governors of the Louisiana State Bar Association, to the citizens of Louisiana, and to other interested parties the Annual Report of the Supreme Court of Louisiana for 2009, including the reports of the Judicial Council, the Judicial Administrator's Office, the Clerk of Court, the Law Library of Louisiana, the Louisiana Judicial College, and the Judiciary Commission of Louisiana, as well as statistical information on the state judiciary reflecting the work of the past year. The report also includes information from the Committee on Bar Admissions and the Louisiana Attorney Disciplinary Board, entities that operate under the auspices of the Supreme Court. All who were involved in our continuing efforts throughout 2009 to improve judicial administration are to be congratulated.

2009: BUILDING STEPS TOWARDS THE FUTURE

This section highlights initiatives of the Judicial Administrator's Office, the managerial arm of the Louisiana Supreme Court which serves as the staffing and fiscal agent for the Judicial Council and court-appointed task forces and committees. This section also includes information about the Law Library, Judicial College, Bar Admissions, Clerk of Court's Office, Attorney Disciplinary Board, and the Judiciary Commission.

CHILDREN AND FAMILIES

By administering statewide programs the Court enhances judicial services to children and families.

- The Court Improvement Program (CIP) administers three federal grants for improving the adjudication of child abuse and neglect cases. Among other initiatives, CIP is providing training, technical assistance and oversight for the rollout of the new statewide system of representation in child abuse cases. CIP is also involved in the federal Child & Family Services Review of the state foster care system, which specifically includes court and legal system involvement.
- The Families in Need of Services (FINS) Assistance Program provides fiscal and programmatic oversight of funds allocated to support mandated informal FINS processes in every judicial district statewide. In addition, FINS continues to work with the MacArthur Foundation Models for Change program, which is piloting best practices initiatives in six areas of the state.
- The CASA Assistance Program provided fiscal and programmatic oversight of funding to support 18 Court Appointed Special Advocate programs across the state serving 55 parishes and 35 judicial districts.
- Integrated Juvenile Justice Information System (IJJIS), a web-based juvenile court case management and data reporting system, is fully developed and has been successfully piloted in Caddo Parish Juvenile Court.

DRUG COURTS

Drug courts combine intensive substance abuse treatment with rigorous court oversight, community supervision and regular and frequent drug testing to ensure program accountability and the best outcomes for offenders with substance abuse problems. The Supreme Court Drug Court Office (SCDCO) is the fiscal agent for funds allocated to local drug court programs throughout the state.

- In 2009, Louisiana's 48 juvenile and adult drug courts and one family dependency court spent $15.7 million in state and federal funds for drug testing, treatment and supervision of about 3,300 clients per month.
- A significant achievement in 2009 was the award of a Louisiana Commission on Law Enforcement grant which was dedicated to opening a new adult drug court, now in operation, in the 25th Judicial District.
- The SCDCO performed ongoing reviews of court data to track recidivism and other key outcomes; continued to work with the MacArthur Foundation on the development and deployment of evidence-based practices in juvenile court; continued the successful drug court judicial ridealong program; and coordinated a three-day training for 86 current drug court judges and judges interested in starting a drug court.

COURT MANAGEMENT INFORMATION SYSTEMS & LOUISIANA PROTECTIVE ORDER REGISTRY

Court Management Information Systems (CMIS) now houses some 3,734,161 filing and disposition records in the criminal repository. The Criminal Records Project sends final dispositions to the Department of Public Safety for inclusion in a computerized criminal history database; 12,613 records were posted by the end of 2009. CMIS posted 114,357 qualifying felony dispositions records to the FBI National Instant Check System database. CMIS receives criminal data from 61 of 64 district courts and traffic dispositions from 41 state courts.

- CMIS dispersed nearly $140,000 in federal grants to seven district courts for the acquisition and installation of criminal case management systems to report criminal filing and disposition data.
- Site visits and training sessions were conducted by CMIS to familiarize and assist eight district courts and 12 traffic courts with the proper methods for reporting filings and disposition information.
- In 2009, the Louisiana Protective Order Registry (LPOR) received 21,592 court orders prohibiting domestic abuse and dating violence.
- The LPOR staff responded to 803 order verification requests, providing this essential service 24 hours a day, seven days a week to the FBI as well as to state and local law enforcement.
- LPOR's educational programs reached about 720 court and law enforcement officials.

COMMUNITY RELATIONS

The outreach division of the Supreme Court oversees communications, events, courthouse tours and other public involvement, including the web site (www.lasc.org), media relations and court publications. Significant accomplishments in 2009:

- Coordinated two special events, including the Induction Ceremony of Justice Catherine D. "Kitty" Kimball as Chief Justice of the Louisiana Supreme Court, and a two-day justices retreat, which provided an opportunity for the justices and key staff to review and exchange ideas regarding day-to-day Court operations.
- Conducted nearly 50 court tours involving 822 visitors from schools of all levels, law firms, international jurists and lawyers, jurists and lawyers from other states, civic organizations, legislators and businesses.
- Organized two 2009 Law Day activities at the Supreme Court. The first included a mock trial for elementary students that involved judges from three courts. The mock trial was presided over by Supreme Court Justice Bernette J. Johnson, the script was developed by Fourth Circuit Court of Appeal Judge Terri Love and Orleans Parish Juvenile Court Judge Ernestine Gray assisted with the students. The second involved two mock trials conducted by Project L.E.A.D. (Legal Enrichment And Decision-making) elementary students, and which were presided over by Supreme Court Justice John Weimer and Fourth Circuit Court of Appeal Judge Michael Kirby, respectively.

NEW JUDGESHIPS

In 2009, the 7th, 23rd, and 27th Judicial Districts and the Alexandria City Court each requested one new judgeship but withdrew their requests; the 14th Judicial District requested one new judgeship which was not recommended by the Judicial Council.

LAW LIBRARY

The Law Library of Louisiana is rich in primary sources of Louisiana and United States law and reaches out in many ways to make the law accessible to the Supreme Court Justices, their law clerks, court staff, members of the bar and the general public. As the only public law library for the state, the library received a 13% increase in reference questions in 2009–a total of 11,119–with the majority of those coming from outside users. Among 2009 other milestones:

- The Law Library sponsored two free continuing legal education (CLE) programs on the topic of Abraham Lincoln to mark Law Day and the bicentennial birth of our 16th president. Another free CLE program reviewed the vast digital collection of maps contained in the United States Serial Set. All three CLE programs were well-attended by both members of the bar and the general public.
- Two new exhibits opened in 2009. The first focused on Abraham Lincoln and his life as a country lawyer, a politician and a president, along with images of Lincoln in popular culture. The second exhibit opened for All Saints Day and featured photos of interesting tombstones of former Supreme Court justices.
- The staff continued to add carefully selected books and other materials to enhance the library collection with a total of 3,426 new volumes added in 2009, including 852 new titled books.

JUDICIAL COLLEGE

Over 750 members of the judiciary took part in Judicial College sessions which featured some 50 speakers on continuing legal education topics targeted to keep judges abreast of important developments in key areas of law.

- Among the topics: 1) juvenile law and juvenile justice reform sessions reviewed service initiatives for children and families, representation issues in child in need of care and delinquency cases, impact of legal and street drugs and also effective community-based treatment for addictive disorders; 2) recent developments in criminal law and procedure looked at issues affecting the military and issues of sexual violence; 3) recent developments in tort law, civil procedure, judicial ethics and best practices were also revisited in 2009.
- In 2009, the Judicial College also co-sponsored with the National Judicial College a three-part special program on Capital Litigation.

BAR ADMISSIONS

In 2009, the Committee on Bar Admissions administered exams in February, resulting in a 67% pass rate, and in July, resulting in a 69% pass rate. A total of 725 new attorneys were admitted to the Louisiana Bar in April and October ceremonies.

- Committee staff reached out to law schools by making presentations and providing individualized assistance to students preparing for the bar examination application process.
- Technological services were enhanced to offer more user-friendly and uniform handling of bar examination registration and application.
- Alternate scoring systems, examination formats and grading methods recommended by the National Conference of Bar Examiners were explored by the Committee.

ATTORNEY DISCIPLINARY BOARD

Improvements to both the Louisiana lawyer disciplinary system and bar admissions process have resulted in a stronger, more informed and better regulated bar than at anytime in history. In 2009, the Louisiana Attorney Disciplinary Board and the Office of Disciplinary Counsel closed out two decades of lawyer regulation with an impressive record.

- In 2009, the total number of complaints alleging lawyer misconduct was 3,075. More than one-third were screened out after initial review, 350 were referred to the Louisiana State Bar Association's Practice Assistance Counsel for remedial assistance instead of discipline and the nearly 1,500 remaining matters received full investigative efforts.
- Lawyers were not immune to the nation's financial crisis in 2009. An unfortunate by-product was the increase in the number of instances of lawyers converting or otherwise mishandling client funds. Through the use of client trust account overdraft notification, the Office of Disciplinary Counsel aggressively addressed the inappropriate use of client funds by lawyers.
- In anticipation of new lawyer advertising rules promulgated in 2009, the Office of Disciplinary Counsel created a panel to screen lawyer advertising complaints.

CLERK OF COURT

In 2009, 2,780 cases were filed, down from 3,014 cases in 2008. The Court disposed of 2,801 cases in 2009, a minimal decrease of 33 less dispositions than in 2008. Due to the decreased number of filings, however, the net clearance rate for the year was 101%. Among key responsibilities of the Clerk of Court in 2009:

• Participated in the enterprise resource planning (ERP) vendor selection process as the Court moved toward adopting an integrated computer-based system designed to manage financial resources, materials and human resources.

- Oversaw courthouse maintenance and improvements involving roof repairs, basement waterproofing, a new security system and the installation of a Wellness Center.
- Issued Certificates of Good Standing. The demand for issuance of Certificates of Good Standing continued to drop in 2009. 4,661 certificates were issued in 2009 as compared to 4,909 in 2008.
- Managed logistics for 273 events hosted by the Court—Court conferences, Oral Argument days and other meetings.
- Began pilot testing of e-filing with the Office of Disciplinary Counsel and the Disciplinary Board.

JUDICIARY COMMISSION

The Judiciary Commission of Louisiana received and docketed 664 complaints lodged against judges and justices of the peace in 2009. In addition, 300 prior complaints filed in 2008 were pending January 1, 2009.

• Of the 664 complaints filed and docketed in 2009, 396 were screened out as not within the jurisdiction of the Commission, or without merit or sufficient corroborating evidence. The remaining 268 cases were reviewed to consider the need for investigation. During 2009, 30 of those cases required in-depth investiga-

- In 2009, the Commission filed a formal charge in one case and lost jurisdiction in three cases because the judges retired to avoid proceedings.
- In 2009, the Supreme Court removed one judge from judicial office and suspended another judge for 30 days without pay. The Supreme Court also publicly censured one judge and found judicial misconduct in one case that did not warrant the imposition of disciplinary sanctions.
- The Commission had 274 cases pending as of December 31, 2009, having disposed of 690 cases during the year. There were no cases pending before the Supreme Court at year's end.

JUDICIAL BUDGET

Louisiana does not have a unified state court funding system. Operations of district, parish and city courts are primarily funded by local governments. An annual legislative appropriation funds the operations of the Louisiana Supreme Court, the five circuit courts of appeal, and the salaries of the Supreme Court Justices, courts of appeal judges, and district court judges, including family and juvenile courts. The state also funds a portion of the salaries of parish and city court judges, and the compensation of retired and ad hoc judges. In 2009, 0.45% of the state's general fund was appropriated to the budget of the state judiciary.
